FROM THE DEAN

The University of California, Davis School of Law (King Hall) is proud of the innovative educational programs we have designed and implemented for international lawyers for almost three decades. Our goal is to provide the knowledge and skills contemporary lawyers need to serve their clients in the global economy.

Our school is proud of its leadership in welcoming and supporting lawyers from throughout the world to our school and the UC Davis campus. We value the exchange of ideas and perspectives that define these international law programs. Members of our outstanding faculty as well as distinguished members of the California legal community participate as instructors in our programs.

We hope you will join one of our international programs and that we will see you soon in Davis. You will find the educational experience professionally enriching, and you will encounter an intellectually stimulating community of friends, faculty and colleagues.

Sincerely,

Kevin R. Johnson

FROM THE ASSOCIATE DEAN

We are pleased to share with you the latest information about our International Law Programs for 2017.

This summer marks the 28th anniversary of the International Law Programs. We invite you to join us here, at King Hall in Davis, where the dynamic California legal and business communities stand at the crossroads between East and West. You will enjoy a unique opportunity to gain cutting edge legal knowledge while you build camaraderie with international lawyers and judges through cross-cultural experiences that last long after the program ends.

Our new and returning students and alumni inspire us to continue expanding our programs, which combine knowledge with practical application in an exciting community of legal practitioners. Our programs continue to serve the world's best legal professionals because of the expertise and support of our instructors, colleagues and friends. Look for more of these unique programs in the future.

See you in California!

UNIVERSITY AND LOCATION

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

The University of California (UC) is one of the finest public institutions of higher education in the United States, with many professional schools including five law schools located at its campuses in Berkeley, Davis, Irvine, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The UC Davis University Library contains more than three million volumes, and the Mabie Law Library houses more than 375,000 print volumes and volume equivalents, and provides access to a wealth of licensed online resources as well as electronic access to journals and databases via the California Digital Library.

The UC Davis School of Law is a top-tier U.S. law school. Our students consistently perform well on the California bar examination. All courses offered through the International Law Programs are MCLE-approved by the California and New York Bar Associations. The International Law Section of the State Bar of California is a co-sponsor of these programs.

ABOUT THE CITY OF DAVIS

The UC Davis campus is located in the city of Davis. Davis has a population of 66,742 and is a popular place for professionals and their families because it is safe, comfortable and has a variety of recreational opportunities. Known as an ecologically aware and socially innovative town, Davis has more than 160 kilometers of bicycle paths and boasts the highest percentage of bicycle commuters in the United States. It also has 210 hectares of parks, greenbelts and open spaces.

Davis is located in the Central Valley about 20 kilometers from Sacramento, the state capital, where many of the trade and business policies for California are determined. Davis is within two hours of the San Francisco Bay Area and the world famous Napa Valley. Only two hours from Lake Tahoe, Davis is also within close proximity to some of California's most beautiful and historic areas such as the Sierra Nevada Gold Country, Yosemite Valley and Monterey.

ADVANCED LAW DEGREES

MASTER OF LAWS (LL.M.)

A one- or two-year, in-residence program
August – May each year

The UC Davis School of Law LL.M. offers a superior educational experience for foreign lawyers, judges, prosecutors and other legal professionals. Classes are taught by outstanding faculty scholars, and students are integrated into J.D. classes. The program is designed around individual student needs, and LL.M. students can pursue a general course of study or a specialization from an area within the UC Davis School of Law curriculum such as Business Law, private and public International Law, Criminal Law and Procedure, Intellectual Property, Human Rights and Social Justice Law, Public Interest Law, Environmental and Natural Resources Law, Health Law and Bioethics and many others. Students may also take a pre-Bar study program. UC Davis offers one- and two-year options.

LL.M. candidates must complete a minimum of 20 semester units. Foreign LL.M. candidates take two courses especially designed for foreign law graduates that provide a foundation for understanding the U.S. legal system. Participants earn the remainder of their required course credit by taking regular courses at the UC Davis School of Law with American J.D. students.

The law school also admits foreign LL.M. candidates on a thesis rather than a course basis. The thesis track requires a substantial proposed research project falling within the area of expertise of a law faculty member who is willing to supervise the student's research and who strongly recommends graduate study for the applicant. The law school accepts thesis-track students only if their proposed thesis is likely to make a significant scholarly contribution.

LL.M. candidates must complete their degree during two consecutive semesters of residential study for the one-year program; please inquire about our two-year LL.M. option. LL.M. candidates are encouraged to enroll in Orientation in U.S.A. Law, offered the month before the Master of Laws (LL.M.) program begins.

To ensure a top quality experience for its students, the Master of Laws (LL.M.) program is selective. Applicants must have a minimum TOEFL iBT score of 88 (or 230 computer-based or 570 paper-based score). An IELTS score of 6.5 is also acceptable.

Graduates of this master's degree program have gone on to sit for the bar examinations in New York and California in order to become U.S. attorneys.

**Tuition, fees and course topics subject to change.*

The LL.M. Program is perfect. The professors are outstanding. Davis is a quiet town and living in the United States is its own kind of education. The King Hall building is beautiful and a great place to study and to engage with classmates and faculty. Professor Greenwood and the program staff welcomed us and are always here for us, educationally and personally.”

CONTENT

This innovative graduate degree was developed in response to the demand for a part-time degree program that provides in-depth knowledge in international commercial transactions.

The degree can be completed in two, three, four or five summers. This format allows foreign and domestic lawyers to leave their practices for short periods of intense study.

Candidates begin the master's degree program by examining the fundamentals of the U.S. legal system with special emphasis on business and trade law. They complete the Orientation in U.S.A. Law program, two of three specialized programs in international commercial law, a capstone writing project and the elective courses.

Examining the U.S. legal system in-depth provides participants with a model both for comparative legal analysis and understanding a legal system that is considered highly responsive to the globalized marketplace. With this foundation, participants go on to study global trading systems and the dynamic financial and economic forces driving economic internationalization and trade liberalization. Forty units are required to complete the degree. Graduates of this program have gone on to sit for the bar examination in California in order to become U.S. attorneys.

OTHER PROGRAMS

CUSTOMIZED TRAINING FOR ORGANIZATIONS OF ALL SIZES

We can present many of these courses and programs for your organization. Don't see exactly what you need? We'll create a customized program specifically designed to meet the needs of your law firm or company. For example, if your firm needs a one- or two-week overview of the U.S. legal system at your office for your associates in your country, we can create a program to fit your needs. In addition, if your company only desires to learn certain aspects of the American legal system, a program can be customized for any length of time. For more information or a detailed program proposal, please contact us.

LICENTIATE IN INTERNATIONAL TRANSACTIONS INVOLVING THE UNITED STATES

Requires two summers of study during July and August (eight weeks total)

Participants who successfully complete Orientation in U.S.A. Law and two specialized programs in International Commercial Law are eligible to apply for the Licentiate in International Transactions Involving the United States. Participants also must write a paper on an applied aspect of international law. For more information, please contact us at internationalallaw@ucdavis.edu

INTERNATIONAL COMPARATIVE ENVIRONMENTAL LAW SEMINAR ~ IN COMO, ITALY

Sunday, May 28 – Saturday, June 10, 2017

This intensive, two-week program provides a unique opportunity for U.S. and international law students and legal professionals to study European and U.S. environmental law in the heart of Europe.

Jointly presented by the University of California, Davis School of Law and the University of Insubria School of Law, this program examines a number of air, water and liability laws as they relate to the environment. Environmental law experts lead the thematic class sessions.

For more information, visit our website at law.ucdavis.edu/go/international or contact us at internationalallaw@ucdavis.edu

In addition to the International Law Programs, UC Davis School of Law offers a three-year, full-time program leading to the Juris Doctor degree. King Hall's areas of strength include Business Law, Criminal Law and Procedure, Environmental and Natural Resources Law, Health Care Law and Bioethics, Human Rights and Social Justice Law, Intellectual Property Law, International Law and Public Interest Law.

At UC Davis School of Law, you'll learn from one of the nation's best law faculties. Students also gain hands-on, real-world experience in our award-winning trial and appellate advocacy programs, clinics and externship programs.
